

One More Part of Me

Brown & Lesser © 2023

1     They say it takes compromise in matters of the heart
2     There must be give and take, so I played my part
3     At every fork in the road, I let you decide
4     You're always at the wheel, I'm just along for the ride

5     What have I given up?

6     Losing one more part of me
7     How long can I go on before there's nothing left
8     Losing one more part of me
9     How long can I go on before there's nothing left, nothing left of me

10    I've given up my friends, my hobbies and my faith,
11    How much can I give up, before I start to break?
12    I've worshipped at your altar, offered up myself
13    But the spirit's left, now I'm someone else

14    What have I given up?

15    Losing one more part of me
16    How long can I go on before there's nothing left
17    Losing one more part of me

19    The rain pours down as I stuff my bags
20    With all I can take from this place,
21    'Til a flash of lightning reveals your face

22    Now I reflect when I see your tears
23    I unpack my bags and unpack my fears
24    Standing up for my- self can still leave room for you
25    At a bigger scale, there's a higher truth

26    Do we have to give up?

27    Losing one more part of me
28    I went on for far too long, there was almost nothing left
29    Leaving, we can both agree,
30    Is just an easy answer, never puts us to the test

31    Losing one more part of me
32    Is not the only lonely road that I can't take 33    Leaving can't be our destiny,
34    There has to be a way that isn't a mistake
35    Where we don't have to fake,
36    With everything at stake ...
